

Grand Opening of New School!

In Henderson, there is a new school by the name of WebLine Academy opening. It is a charter school that is unlike any others in existence. The way it teaches is going to be entirely based on the usage and teaching of HTML. Its director says, “Coding and the creation of websites are very important in the modern day. That is why we have chosen to teach our students HTML. It is a very important life skill.”

Curriculum

The way teaching will occur is there will be a lesson by the teacher, and then the students will make an HTML document about what they learned. It is said that this will be a very efficient way of learning that will keep the students actively engaged.

For a downloadable version of this article, click here.

To return to the home page, click here.

For more information on HTML, visit the following link. HTML tags.